

Professional Ethics in teaching institution-The Need of the hour!

Teaching is a noble profession. The mandate for education institutions should be professional ethics that is based on various qualities of a teacher such as professional efficiency, character, personality, mental health etc.

Teacher is considered to be a role model and play active role in promoting effective development, change and understanding. Pedagogy as an episteme is dynamic. In creating and sustaining pedagogic settings, teachers crucially determine both the nature and the quality of learning. Respect for teachers engenders respect for the function they perform. Their values, attitudes and actions influence the young minds having a great impact. These ethical principles constitute a common ground for the development of our ethical awareness. It is our responsibility to act in accordance with these values and principles.

UNESCO report states on the responsibility of a teacher: “The need for change is required from narrow nationalism to universalism, from ethnic and cultural prejudice to tolerance, understanding and pluralism, from autocracy to democracy in its various manifestations. It is likely to become more critical in the twenty-first century, placing enormous responsibilities on teachers who participate in the moulding of the characters and minds of the new generation.”

Dr. Ranjana Mohan
Prof and Head
Dept of Periodontology
TMDCRC
Moradabad

Editor-in-Chief
TMU Journal of Dentistry